DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-16, 41-50, and 66-85 have been examined.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. In the IDs filed on October 6, 2010, the NPL documents have not been considered (indicated via strike-through) because the citations fail to include relevant pages, a requirement of 37 CFR 1.98(b)(5).
3. In the IDs filed on December 16, 2010, the NPL document has not been considered (indicated via strike-through) because it is a duplicate citation with respect to the IDS filed on October 6, 2010.

Claim Objections

4. Claim 6 is objected to because of the following informalities: Please replace "instruction:", in line 9, with --instruction, to:--, and delete "to" from the beginning of each subsequent step. Appropriate correction is required.
5. Claims 7-8, 66-68, 71-75, and 78-79 are objected for the same reason that claim 6 is objected to.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

7. Claims 1-16, 41-50, and 66-85 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. With respect to claim 1, the examiner asserts that the limitation "without using a virtual address" (and associated limitations) is new matter with respect to the original specification. The original specification (paragraphs [97]-[98]) merely sets forth an "address of the pipeline unit" or "an identifier that identifies the pipeline(s)". This address can be rejected using any kind of address (virtual, physical, etc.). Applicant's attempt to subsequently narrow the originally disclosed address to be a physical address, as argued, and not a virtual address is new matter. This new matter was first added to the claims on January 6, 2010. Therefore, the examiner apologizes for the delay in this rejection. However, the current rejection is a result of reconsideration.

The remaining independent claims are rejected for similar reasons.

All dependent claims are rejected for including new matter because they are dependent on claims including new matter.

It should be noted that if applicant deletes the new matter, to substantially return the claims to those filed on August 5, 2009, before the new matter was introduced, then the claims will be rejected under Inagaki, as modified, in substantially the same manner that the claims were rejected on October 5, 2009.

8. Claims 1-16, 41-50, and 66-85 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention, without undue experimentation. With respect to claim 1, applicant first claims a message header having information indicating one but fewer than all of the processing pipelines (lines 5-7), and later claims generating, from the information, an identifier indicating the at least one processing pipeline without using a virtual address (lines 12-13). Therefore, the examiner understands this portion of the claim as illustrated below:

Header info → Identifier → Pipeline(s)

In this situation, the header information is a virtual address because it is not a physical address of the pipeline, but instead information which is used to generate the physical address of the pipeline, i.e., the identifier. Hence, it is not clear how to make or use the claimed invention without using a virtual address when it appears that applicant is using a virtual address (Header info).

The remaining independent claims are rejected for similar reasons.

All dependent claims are rejected for lacking enablement because they are dependent on non-enabled claims.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
